

ROOSEVELTIAN PLEA FOR N. Y. GOV. ATTACKED

G. O. P. Says It Shows Democratic Fears of Republicans

Hyde Park, N. Y., Nov. 3.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, upon his arrival home today hastened to correct any impression that he would not support Senator Copeland, Democrat, for re-election in Tuesday's balloting.

"In making a statement yesterday for Governor Lehman," said McIntyre, "the President intended to leave no inference that he was not voting for Senator Copeland. He is voting for Senator Copeland. The President confirmed his statement yesterday to Gov. Lehman, an intimate friend. Obviously he could not name all candidates on the ticket, simply because of numbers."

The President's action is stepping out of a "hands off" role to appeal for election of Lehman over the Republican candidate, Robert Moses, drew quick fire from the latter's camp.

Replying to the President's praise of his former lieutenant governor as a man of "courage, energy, fine administrative and executive qualities," the Republican state chairman, Melvin C. Eaton, said "the President's action convinces me x x x that the Democratic party is afraid of Robert Moses."

Only One Mentioned

The President, in going to Lehman's support, omitted mention of other candidates, including Senator Copeland, New York Democrat. This caused some speculation. Asked if omission of Copeland's name was an oversight, the President gave a negative answer and pointed out that he had mentioned only Lehman his close friend and associate.

While some wondered whether the physician-senator would receive the presidential vote, another school of thought was that Roosevelt had made a rare exception to his rule in Lehman's case and if he had gone farther, he would face the necessity of answering specific questions about a host of other candidates.

Has Scratched Ballot

After scribbling in longhand his appeal for Gov. Lehman, the president surprised reporters at his press conference in Washington yesterday by making clear that he is not a man who votes a straight Democratic ticket regardless.

Asked if he was going to vote for Democrats all down the line, he said simply that it would be amazing to know how many times he had cast his ballot for men of the opposite party.

No sooner had the President's statement hummed over the wires to New York than Republican Chairman Eaton declared:

The fact that the Democratic organization of the state of New York has found it necessary to call upon the President of the United States to step aside from his official duties and enter the state campaign for the salvation of Governor Herbert H. Lehman, is the best news the Republican party has heard in its fight for the election of Robert Moses."

Attended Funeral

of Little Victim of Halloween Burn

Friday Mrs. E. A. Cleveland and Mrs. Florence Noble Hopkins went to Mt. Morris to attend the funeral of little Beryl Marquini, whose mother, wife of Dr. Marquini of Cleveland, O., was formerly Helen Cleveland of Mt. Morris, a niece of Dr. Cleveland of Dixon. The little girl, aged 4, died as the result of burns sustained when her clothing caught fire from a jack-o-lantern with which she and her sister were playing at their home in Cleveland. She was immediately taken to a hospital, but passed away in about four hours. Mrs. Marquini was badly burned in attempting to extinguish the flames which were engulfing her child.

American Man, Woman Arrested, Stripped, Searched

Berlin, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The two Americans who were arrested, stripped and searched by Nazis in Munich, Oct. 25, said today they had "no official complaint to make" to German authorities concerning their treatment.

G. Griffith Johnson, Jr., of Washington, D. C., said in a telephone conversation with Berlin that he and Miss Helen Lyster of New Rochelle, N. Y., "now realize we were on forbidden ground when we were arrested."

Shying at the unaccustomed publicity caused by their detention, Johnson and Miss Lyster denied themselves to all inquirers today.

They were arrested by storm troopers when the latter spied a camera carried by Miss Lyster. The instrument was confiscated and returned after the film had been developed and found to be unexposed.

CLEVELAND'S A. & P. STRIKE IS SETTLED TODAY

Proposal Submitted by Mediation Board is Accepted

BULLETIN

Cleveland, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The 300 stores and warehouses of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., closed since last Saturday night, will be reopened the middle of next week, J. J. Byrnes, vice-president of the company, announced today.

Byrnes' announcement followed the acceptance by the company and the Cleveland Federation of Labor of a seven-point peace plan submitted by the national labor relations board.

More than 2,000 local employees of the chain store firm will be returned to their jobs with the re-opening.

Washington, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The labor relations board announced today that the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company and the unions concerned in the labor dispute at its Cleveland stores had agreed to the settlement proposed by a board.

The union's acceptance was announced in the following telegram to the board from Thomas S. Farrell, secretary of the Cleveland Federation of Labor:

"Please be advised that unions involved in A & P controversy in Cleveland have agreed to your proposal as a settlement of that dispute."

The board did not make public the company's acceptance, received by telephone shortly after noon from John A. Hartford, president of the company.

The settlement called for reopening the Cleveland stores, closed a week ago today, in protest against picketing and the refusal of union truckmen to haul supplies.

The truckmen struck because of alleged discrimination by the company against union employees.

All employees are to be taken back without discrimination and any future disputes are to be submitted to arbitration, the board said.

The unions involved agreed not to strike before next June 16 at least.

Spain's President May Resign, Rumor

Gibraltar, Nov. 3.—(AP)—President Niceto Alcalá Zamora of Spain, it was learned on highest authority today, may soon resign the office to which he was elected in 1931 after a republic was proclaimed, and great changes may take place in the nation's government in a few days.

Zamora is said to be depressed by division in the cabinet of Alejandro Lerroux, whose rise to power last month was immediately followed by an uprising.

The president also is affected deeply by the arrest of his soldier son, Luis, facing trial for court-martial. A military official said Luis is charged with incitement to rebellion through the encouragement of his fellow soldiers to commit acts of disobedience.

GETS HEAVY PENALTY

Chicago, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Convicted of defrauding the state of $30,000 due for gasoline taxes, Charles D. Duncan was sentenced to prison for one to five years today and assessed a $36,000 fine, the largest ever imposed for the offense.

Duncan, 55 years old, formerly headed the Blue Rose Oil Company in Cicero.

Republican Mayor of Crown Point Arms
Guards With 'em

Crown Point, Ind., Nov. 3.—(AP)—The wooden gun of John Dillingham assumed an important political position today, with repercussions of the desperado's jail escape sounding in the closing stages of Indiana's election campaign.

Republican orators charged that introduction of the spoils system by the Democratic state administration in penal management was responsible for prison deliveries.

The Republican mayor of Crown Point, Vincent Youkey, assigned twenty-five special officers to guard citizens against "kidnaping by state troopers." Eight of the guards carried shiny wooden pistols.

"They worked once before down here," said the mayor, "and I suppose they would again."

GOV'T. IN CHARGE

The United States government took full charge of the investigation of Dillingham's escape, after a secret conference in Chicago between District Attorney James R. Fleming and Assistant Attorney General J. Edward Barce.

It was Barce who was active in the state inquiry, ordered by the Democratic governor, Paul V. McNutt. The results of the investigation, McNutt predicted, would silence the critics of his administration's jail and prison policies.

Despite desires of state officials for termination of the investigation before Tuesday's election, McNutt said no announcement might be made until evidence uncovered has been placed before a federal grand jury.

A man, whose identity was not divulged, was held by Indiana authorities, and McNutt said he had made a confession involving two other men.

DRAKE 'HEIR'S' CONVICTION IS IN HIGH COURT

Oscar Hartzell Takes Appeal to Supreme Court of Nation

Washington, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The United States supreme court today had on file an appeal of Oscar M. Hartzell from his district court conviction at Sioux City on charges of using the mails to defraud in promotion of the allegedly fraudulent Drake estate.

Hartzell was convicted a year ago this month and was sentenced to ten years imprisonment and fined $2,000. He asks the high court to set aside the judgment, contending the indictment was defective and the ruling of the lower court on questions of law were wrong. The circuit court of appeals has upheld the lower court.

The government charged that Hartzell collected vast sums from midwesterners to finance his supposed legal battle in England to establish his title to the estate of Sir Francis Drake, famous sixteenth century sea rover. He claimed to represent the only living legal heir to the state.

In his trial, at which a photostatic copy of Drake's will was introduced, it was established that the famous navigator had no estate that was not bequeathed through regular channels and that the English court before which Hartzell was supposedly working had no jurisdiction over wills and estates.

Pure Milk Assn. in Protest of Reduced Price in Chi. Area

Chicago, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Leaders of the Pure Milk Association have protested the reduction in price paid producers of milk in the Chicago area as ordered by the AAA, effective Thursday.

The order cut the price of fluid milk from $2.25 to $2 a hundred pounds, which members of the association said would cost them $182,000 a month.

Leaders of 320 locals of the association met yesterday with E. N. Harman, of the dairy section of the AAA, who attended as representative of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, who said that the cut was necessary or distributors would go out of business.

A. M. Krah, association official, said the group "would probably go along with the government, hoping that eventually some teeth would be put in the AAA."

He said that the "trusting farmer" was at present at the mercy of chiselers.

Frank D. Stephan Passed Away This Morning After Brave But Hopeless Fight

Funeral of Prominent Civic Leader to be Tuesday

Dixon today mourns the loss of one of its most active and loved citizens in the passing of Frank D. Stephan, who succumbed to a lingering illness at the family residence, 618 East Second street, at 7:45 this morning. He had been a patient sufferer from a malignant affliction since early last spring, which of recent months had confined him to his bed, but to the last he maintained patient composure and a keen interest in the affairs of the city which had been his home throughout his life.

In his passing, Dixon loses one of its most sincere and active citizens. He maintained a helpful interest in the growth and welfare of Dixon and was tireless in his efforts to benefit the city and its citizens.

Native of Dixon

Frank Dale Stephan was born March 4, 1885 in Dixon, the son of Louis and Margaret Stephan. He attended and graduated from the high school and high schools, later attended the Steinman institute. Upon his graduation from the latter institution, he became private secretary to the late Senator Charles Hughes at Springfield. Returning to the city of his birth, he was employed as a clerk in the City National bank. Later he entered the employ of the Grand Detour Plow Co., which became the J. I. Case company, where he held the position of sales manager. He continued in this capacity for a period of 21 years. For the past five years he had served as secretary of the Dixon Loan & Building Association in which capacity he had been very successful and through his untiring efforts had practically rebuilt the institution until it enjoyed a reputation as being one of the most sound in the central west.

Fraternally, he held membership in all the Dixon Masonic circles and Freeport Consistory, being a 32nd degree Mason and was one of the older members of Dixon lodge, No. 779 B. P. O. Elks.

He was united in marriage, Oct. 4, 1910 to Garnett W. Cowan, who survives him with one son, Donald, and one brother, Harry Stephan, all of Dixon.

He was an active worker in all of the organizations in which he held membership and was also a past president of the Dixon Chamber of Commerce. He had been very active in the Dixon Loyalty League and was a member of the committee which successfully organized and operated the Dixon Community Kitchen.

His life was one of service to his fellow men and his advice was sought in many matters which concerned the betterment of the city. He was of a most genial disposition, his life was determined and was greatly loved and admired by all who knew him and respected his keen business ability. While he had been confined for several months, losing strength constantly, he continued to maintain close contact with the affairs of the city's welfare to the end.

Funeral services will be conducted from the family residence Tuesday afternoon at 2:30, Rev. J. Franklin Young, pastor of the Presbyterian church officiating. Interment will be in Oakwood cemetery.

Friends and members of the Friendship lodge, No. 7 A. F. & A. M. will conduct the service at the grave. Members of Dixon lodge of Elks will attend the service in a body, members of Dixon Commandery, No. 21, Knights Templar will serve as an escort from the residence to the grave and officers of the Dixon Loan & Building Association will serve as honorary pallbearers.

In his passing, Dixon loses one of its most sincere and active citizens. He maintained a helpful interest in the growth and welfare of Dixon and was tireless in his efforts to benefit the city and its citizens.

Native of Dixon

Frank Dale Stephan was born March 4, 1885 in Dixon, the son of Louis and Margaret Stephan. He attended and graduated from the high school and high schools, later attended the Steinman institute. Upon his graduation from the latter institution, he became private secretary to the late Senator Charles Hughes at Springfield. Returning to the city of his birth, he was employed as a clerk in the City National bank. Later he entered the employ of the Grand Detour Plow Co., which became the J. I. Case company, where he held the position of sales manager. He continued in this capacity for a period of 21 years. For the past five years he had served as secretary of the Dixon Loan & Building Association in which capacity he had been very successful and through his untiring efforts had practically rebuilt the institution until it enjoyed a reputation as being one of the most sound in the central west.

Fraternally, he held membership in all the Dixon Masonic circles and Freeport Consistory, being a 32nd degree Mason and was one of the older members of Dixon lodge, No. 779 B. P. O. Elks.

He was united in marriage, Oct. 4, 1910 to Garnett W. Cowan, who survives him with one son, Donald, and one brother, Harry Stephan, all of Dixon.

He was an active worker in all of the organizations in which he held membership and was also a past president of the Dixon Chamber of Commerce. He had been very active in the Dixon Loyalty League and was a member of the committee which successfully organized and operated the Dixon Community Kitchen.

His life was one of service to his fellow men and his advice was sought in many matters which concerned the betterment of the city. He was of a most genial disposition, his life was determined and was greatly loved and admired by all who knew him and respected his keen business ability. While he had been confined for several months, losing strength constantly, he continued to maintain close contact with the affairs of the city's welfare to the end.

Funeral services will be conducted from the family residence Tuesday afternoon at 2:30, Rev. J. Franklin Young, pastor of the Presbyterian church officiating. Interment will be in Oakwood cemetery.

Friends and members of the Friendship lodge, No. 7 A. F. & A. M. will conduct the service at the grave. Members of Dixon lodge of Elks will attend the service in a body, members of Dixon Commandery, No. 21, Knights Templar will serve as an escort from the residence to the grave and officers of the Dixon Loan & Building Association will serve as honorary pallbearers.

Frank D. Stephan Passed Away This Morning After Brave But Hopeless Fight

Funeral of Prominent Civic Leader to be Tuesday

Dixon today mourns the loss of one of its most active and loved citizens in the passing of Frank D. Stephan, who succumbed to a lingering illness at the family residence, 618 East Second street, at 7:45 this morning. He had been a patient sufferer from a malignant affliction since early last spring, which of recent months had confined him to his bed, but to the last he maintained patient composure and a keen interest in the affairs of the city which had been his home throughout his life.

In his passing, Dixon loses one of its most sincere and active citizens. He maintained a helpful interest in the growth and welfare of Dixon and was tireless in his efforts to benefit the city and its citizens.

PRESIDENT OF
U. CALIFORNIA
PLEDGES PROBE

Will Investigate Alleged Communism on College Campus

Los Angeles, Nov. 3—(AP)—A "thorough investigation" into the charge of Provost E. C. Moore, head of the University of California at Los Angeles, that the institution is a "hotbed of Communism" was promised today by Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul, president of the University.

Dr. Sproul announced his intention of making a searching inquiry into Provost Moore's suspensions of five students for alleged radical activities as well as of conditions on the Westwood campus.

Dr. Moore later yesterday offered to reinstate the four men student leaders whom he suspended earlier in the week, but his offer was declined by the quartet because of the "implications and conditions imposed." His offer made no mention of Miss Celeste Strack, senior co-ed, who also was suspended for alleged radical activity.

Earlier an investigating committee composed of 15 campus leaders exonerated the four men of Moore's charges that they were "the unwitting tools of Communism."

The quartet is composed of student body president John Burnside and three members of the student body council.

Dr. Moore is head of the faculty here but is under Dr. Sproul, who actively presides at the University of California at Berkeley.

Fears that radicals might attempt to interfere with a homecoming rally failed to materialize last night.

COMPANION OF
FLOYD ON WAY

Richetti is Extradited from Ohio Jail on Murder Charge

Lisbon, Ohio, Nov. 3—(AP)—Adam Richetti, henchman of "Pretty Boy" Floyd, is on his way to Kansas City to tell what he knows—or what he is willing to tell—about the massacre of five men in the Union Station there last year.

The first open move by the federal government to obtain custody of the man, himself suspected of having pulled a trigger in the wholesale slaughter June 17, 1933, was successful only after hours of argument at Columbiana county's creaking, 95-year-old jail.

A writ of habeas corpus ad testificandum issued at Kansas City provides that Richetti be brought back to Ohio upon completion of his appearance before the federal grand jury there.

Four hours after three deputy United States marshals left Lisbon for Cleveland on the first leg of the trip to Kansas City, A. T. McGowan, chief deputy and one of the trio, commented at Cleveland: "Richetti is in town, but don't ask me where he is. I can assure you he is in federal custody, and we are going to deliver him in Kansas City or bust."

"We had one of our men shot down at the Union Station in Kansas City, and we're not taking any more chances than we can help."

No Lawyer Can See
Hauptmann Until He Tells Who's Counsel

Flemington, N. J., Nov. 3—(AP)—No attorneys will be permitted to visit Bruno Richard Hauptmann, Lindbergh kidnap slaying suspect, until it is definitely decided who is counsel for the defense, Sheriff John H. Curtis said today.

The sheriff made the announcement after conferring by telephone with Attorney General David T. Wilentz, prosecution chief in the Hauptmann case.

Wilentz said he thought the defense counsel question would be strengthened on Monday when he confers with Edward J. Reilly, veteran Brooklyn criminal lawyer, who retained yesterday by Mrs. Hauptmann. The engaging of Reilly and two associate attorneys, Lloyd Fisher and Ryman Herr, local lawyers, caused the present uncertainty.

James M. Fawcett, who has represented Hauptmann since his arrest, announced that he was still counsel for the defense "despite rumors to the contrary."

China Builds $100,000 'White House'

China's $100,000 "White House" at Nanking will be ready for occupancy before Christmas, after two years' construction work—but the occupant is uncertain. It may be Lin Sen, China's president, or it may be Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, actual government head. The mansion, shown here, is built in purely Chinese style, with yellow brick walls and blue glazed tile roof.

Youth is Arrested for Murder of Old Man Two Years Ago

Belleville, Ill., Nov. 3—(AP)—John Nickloff, 23, of St. Louis, today was charged with the murder two years ago of Ned Hottes, a wealthy East St. Louisian, in a warrant issued in justice court here.

Nickloff, arrested yesterday at Madison, Ill., is held here. Deputy Sheriff Henry Siekmann, who obtained the warrant, said Nickloff's arrest resulted from a conversation among prisoners at the Madison county jail at Edwardsville, which was overheard.

Hottes, 72 years old, was beaten to death in November, 1932, in a vacant house which he owned in East St. Louis. Authorities said he was killed resisting men who intended to kidnap him for ransom. Hottes, who lived in frugal fashion, left an estate of $440,000.

Streamline Train For Chicago-to-St. Louis Run Planned

Chicago, Nov. 3—(AP)—An order for a streamlined, electrically driven passenger train to operate between Chicago and St. Louis had been placed today by the Illinois Central Railway.

President L. A. Downs announced yesterday that the new train, designed to cut running time between the two cities to five hours, had been ordered from the Pullman Car & Manufacturing Company, for delivery by next spring.

To be built of aluminum and steel, the new streamliner will accommodate 150 passengers and cost approximately $400,000. Its five cars will include a combination baggage and mail car, two coaches and a lounge car.

Rival Union Miners Clash Again Today in Wilkes Barre, Pa.

Wilkes Barre, Nov. 3—(AP)—Rival mine unions clashed again today in a less serious repetition of Friday's disorders, at the entrance to No. 7 colliery of the Susquehanna Coaleries Company at Nanticoke, and one policeman was hurt.

Reversing yesterday's procedure, members of the United Mine Workers were on the defensive against members of a younger and rival union, United Anthracite Miners of Pennsylvania.

Relative strengths also were reversed, the older union having about 1,000 members—workers going on the "day side" at the colliery—massed about the mine entrance.

About 250 pickets marched on the entrance. Missiles and fists flew, and several shots were fired by both sides, but none was struck by bullets.

INSULL ENDS EVIDENCE IN FRAUD TRIAL

Corporation Securities Company put its common stock out in a nationwide sales campaign in 1930. The prosecutor was armed with a half dozen letters and telegrams on the subject, in one of which H. L. Stuart, Insull's investment banker, said the dividend was ill advised in view of the fact that the corporation had taken huge losses on the securities it held.

These failed to refresh Insull's recollection. He said at first that he approved the dividend, although recalling that he was in Europe at the time.

Lee County Voters:

My Republican primary nomination for State Senator, won after a fair contest, should entitle me to united party support in the election. I don't approve of the present gross misconduct of the Illinois State government and its undesirable control by Chicago politicians and will fight their increasing their power over downstate counties. It is 26 years since Lee County elected a State Senator and the office has been held by DeKalb County for the last 20 years. Since Lee County was organized it has had a State Senator for a total of only 20 years, while Whiteside County has had the office for 30 years and DeKalb County for 47 years, so it clearly is Lee County's turn. I decline to indulge in personalities or the very late campaign petty politics of the opponent and some local Democrats. The office I seek would be valuable in promoting the interests of Dixon and Lee County, and I would so use it vigorously, and I will appreciate substantial support of Lee County voters.

Club Women Enjoyed Talk by Mrs. H. R. Heer in Amboy

Members of the Amboy Woman's club presented their third annual meeting in honor of the Junior Woman's club at the Library Club rooms Monday evening. Mrs. W. T. Holladay presided. The meeting was opened by singing "America the Beautiful." Mrs. Cyril Braden of Lee Center accompanied by Mrs. C. A. Ulrich played a xylophone solo. Carolyn Parker sang and danced, also accompanied by Mrs. Ulrich. Sarah Prytherch responded to the senior president's welcome. The program was brought to a splendid finale by an address, "The Greatest Challenge to Women," given by Mrs. Myrtle Heer of Galena, president of the 13th district of the Federated Women's Clubs. In this discourse Mrs. Heer enumerated some of the outstanding achievements of the women of the world. She went on further to suggest that women haven't done enough to cure the world of its existing ills because of indifference, ignorance, lack of confidence and inadequate use of their suffrage. It was a most inspiring address given in a most enthusiastic and intelligent manner. A large number of the Women's Club and its guests were present to enjoy this address. The House Committee consisting of Mrs. D. L. Berry, Mrs. Nellie Dwyer, Mrs. Harold Putney and Miss Madge Wolcott served fruit punch and cakes.

Halloween Party For Bridge Club

Members of the Blue Eagle club enjoyed a happy Halloween party last evening at the home of Mrs. Joseph Tusha. Miss Vera Bentley assisted. The members were in costumes which provoked merriment and good cheer and for the best of which Miss Mildred Delhot and Harold Fischer were awarded the prizes. Decorations were in the season's motif and tasty refreshments added to the enjoyment of all. At bridge high scores were made by Miss Delhot and Joseph Farley and low scores were recorded by Miss Lorena Hodges and Leslie Smith.

Miss Swarts Entertains Unity Guild

The Unity Guild met at the home of Miss Carrie Swarts Thursday, in an all day meeting. An appetizing picnic dinner was enjoyed by all. They finished the quilt which they will present the ladies of Dr. Preston Bradley's church, for their bazaar, which will be held this fall.

Mrs. L. W. Miller read a few chapters from Dr. Bradley's book, recently published, entitled, "Courage for Today."

The Guild will meet the 6th of December, with Miss May Lord.

Thank Offering At Grace Church

The Women's Missionary Society of Grace Evangelical church will hold its public Thank Offering meeting Tuesday at the church. This will be an all day meeting, starting at 10 o'clock, with a picnic dinner at noon. General picnic rules will be observed.

A very interesting program has been prepared and all the ladies of the church are invited to this all day meeting.

Mrs. Young Gave Delightful Book Review on Friday

The first book talk sponsored by the Literature Department of the Dixon Woman's Club was given Friday afternoon. There were sixty-five friends and members present.

Mrs. J. Franklin Young, chairman of the Literature Department, reviewed the Pulitzer Prize novel, "Lamb in His Bosom" by Caroline Miller. The Pulitzer Prize is awarded to the best novel written by an American. The book is really a chronicle of a family in Georgia from 1810 to the close of the Civil War. Mrs. Young not only gave her own impressions of the book, but read parts, thereby giving the audience an idea of the style in which it is written. She also read a few short reviews by literary critics. Following this, there was a general discussion. This was a most enjoyable and interesting meeting.

The next book talk will be given on December 6th. Mrs. H. A. White will review "Anthony Adverse." Because of the large attendance at the first meeting, the next will be held in the music room of the high school.

"Turkey Talk" For Housewives

Kansas City, Nov. 3—(AP)—Thanksgiving Day hostesses who had no trouble finding a suitable turkey for the menu in 1933 may have to shop longer and bargain harder this year.

With 23 shopping days left, turkey raising centers point to a smaller supply, less uniformity in quality, and a wide variety of sizes with small birds predominating.

As to the price, reports from marketing centers in the western half of the country range from five cents a pound lower than last year to "substantially higher."

Herbert Beyers, Salt Lake City, manager of the Northwestern Turkey Growers Association, estimates the crop will be 15 per cent smaller this year. Reports from several of the nine states in the area, however, showed an increase. In the plains states of Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas the gobble production is expected to be from 15 to 20 per cent smaller.

WOMAN GAME WARDEN URGES SPORTS AFIELD AS RIVAL OF FEMININE MAN HUNT

Shooting Called Real Thrill Awaiting Girls

(By NEA Service)
Farmington, Conn.—"Hunting! There's a truly thrilling sporting experience for women!" It is Edith Stoeher of South Wethersfield talking—the only woman game warden in the United States, with the five-mile fishing preserve on the Branford River and the 300-acre hunting grounds especially set aside for fair nimrods as her special provinces.

"Hunting's a thrill most women still can look forward to. Here in Connecticut, for instance, in spite of the preserve where they can hunt far from the critical masculine eye, only about 50 women turn out for the six-week quail, woodcock, pheasant and partridge season. Those who come are overjoyed that they can hunt in privacy."

Acts as Instructor for Novices
"They don't resent men's presence, but knowing the hunting district is theirs alone is pleasant knowledge. Most of the women are already experienced hunters, but occasionally one turns up who must be taught how to handle a gun and look for game. I have even loaned my dog to several."

Miss Stoeher is proud of her warden's uniform. "There is something very intriguing about the brass buttons and gold badge," she laughs. "The breeches and high boots all lend dignity to the attire. Of course I sew, but my clothes are mostly of the simple, tailored designs. After wearing a uniform all day, I suppose I should lean toward fluffy ruffe dresses, but I don't."

Duties Are Fun
When Miss Stoeher departs for the Branford or Farmington preserves, she leaves her family home in South Wethersfield about 4 in the morning.

"It's fun and I wouldn't exchange my job for anything," she says. Connecticut's woman game warden is versatile. She rides a horse with perfect ease, and enjoys all sports. Golf and tennis she finds are relaxing and pleasant, but there is little time for them during her busy seasons. "Music!" her eyes sparkle when she discusses her favorite art—"has fascinated me for years." She has will no doubt be tasted at many Thanksgiving tables. Shortage of feed and high temperatures are blamed for the medium quality and size of some birds. The growers are being advised to hold these turkeys until Christmas to complete the "finishing" process, but the price of feed is expected to force many to market them earlier.

Mrs. Rhodes Entertains Missionary Soc.

The Missionary Society of the Christian church met on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. B. Rhodes. There were nineteen members and eleven guests present. The World Friendship hymn was sung, then a prayer by Mrs. J. A. Barnett. The business meeting followed—the offertory prayer being given by Mrs. Seyster. A one day convention is to be held at the church on Monday, Nov. 19th at which Ray Rice will be one of the principal speakers.

Mrs. Kindig had charge of the devotions. She read the 107th Psalm, then told of Mary Fuller and her work among the Japanese. She closed with a prayer—and all sang "I gave My Life for Thee."

Mrs. F. C. Sprout was program leader.

Mrs. McCordle read an article on "Where We Have Shared," being a sketch of our work among Orientals through the years.

Mrs. Palmer told of "Churches Sharing with Orientals," stories of American churches serving Oriental groups.

"Meet My Friends"—a series of stories of Oriental Americans—was given by Mrs. Charles Rice.

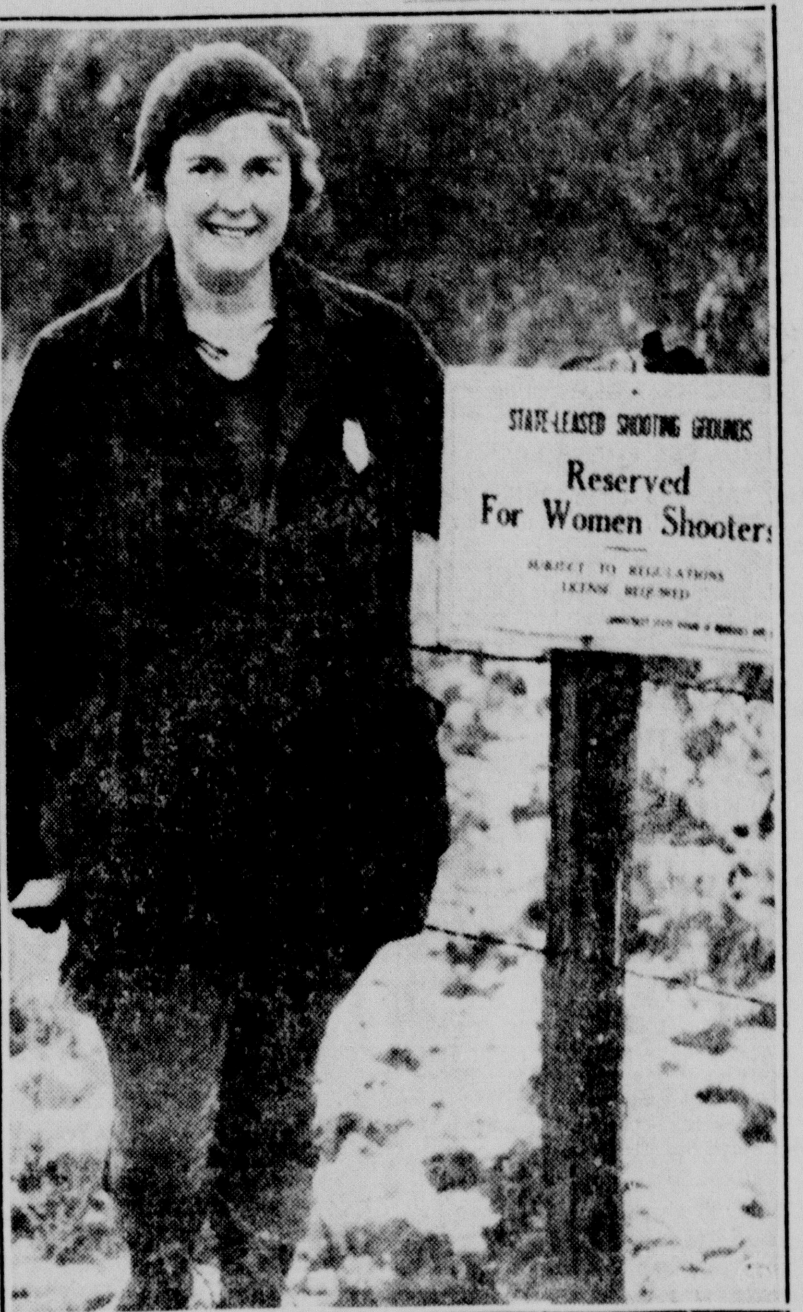

The interesting program closed by all repeating the Benediction.

A social hour followed in which Mrs. Rhodes and her mother, Mrs. W. C. Stauffer, assistant hostess, served tempting refreshments.

Health Playlets May Be Given in Lee Co. Schools

The mailing of "Thanks for Health," a health playlet for Thanksgiving, to the schools of Lee county has been announced by State's Attorney Edward A. Jones, chairman of the Lee County Committee of the Illinois Tuberculosis Association.

According to Mr. Jones, the program offers an entertaining and educational half hour for both the audience and the members of the cast. In each room the teacher chooses the five characters necessary to present the play and drills the children in the necessary reading and acting.

The program, this year, tells of the pioneer work done by Dr. Edward Livingston Trudeau in building the first tuberculosis sanatorium in the United States fifty years ago, known now to millions of people as "Little Red." The history of the annual Christmas Seal sale and the part it has played in reducing and controlling tuberculosis is told in a very interesting manner. The picture of the 1934 seal is shown on a poster as a symbol of the effort being made to reduce the large number of deaths among school children from tuberculosis.

"The playlet is worthwhile," said Mr. Jones, "because it makes each child an active crusader in the fight against tuberculosis. Each child, at the end of the program, agrees to 'tell two' other people. In this manner, most of the parents of the school children will be reached."

Methodist W.F.M.S. Meeting Thursday

The W. F. M. S. of the M. E. church held its monthly meeting Nov. 1st at the home of Mrs. W. D. Baum and Mrs. Belle Morris. The president, Mrs. Chas. Willford, had charge of the meeting. The devotions were conducted by Mrs. Clara Shawyer. The usual business was transacted during which time it was voted to serve a "Birthday Supper" some time in the near future to help meet the pledge for literature and stewardship. Some very good reports of their activities.

Miss Josephine Nichols gave Chap. II of the study book, which was "New Opportunities in Japan," and she gave it in such a charming way that she held the attention and interest of everyone present.

Mrs. Henry Leydig favored with two readings from Edgar Guest, "Lost Opportunity" and "The Cookie Jar" and these were much enjoyed. It closed a very nice program and those who were there felt that it was an afternoon well spent. The Christmas meeting will be held with Mrs. Clayton. There were forty-five in attendance. During the social hour the committee served light refreshments.

Ladies Aid Met At Lutheran Church Thursday All Day

The Ladies Aid Society of St. Paul's Lutheran church, held its meeting Thursday at the church, with a picnic dinner at 12:30. The tables were filled with everything in the line of good food. There were 22 members present and two guests, Rev. Walter and George Eichenberg. After the dishes were gathered and put away the ladies held a short business meeting. Mrs. Robert Fulton, the president being absent, Mrs. George Smith took her place. Several songs were sung. Mrs. Otto Beier gave a prayer. The minutes of the last meeting were read. The ladies voted on having the Sunday school rooms cleaned. They are having their annual chicken and noodle dinner Saturday, Nov. 10.

Miss Eva Peterson Was Honored; To Be Bride Soon

Mrs. Al Dogwile, and Mrs. Fred Enichen delightfully entertained at bridge Wednesday evening in honor of the former's sister, Miss Eva Peterson, who is soon to become the bride of William Liewing. Miss Peterson received the favor for first honors for the ladies. Mr. Liewing received first honors for the gentlemen and Mrs. Richard Kehrt and Clyde Emmert the consolation favors.

Miss Peterson was presented with a lovely gift from those present. A delicious luncheon was served the latter part of the evening. The decorations were in keeping with the Halloween spirit, and were very attractive. At a late hour the guests departed after having spent an enjoyable evening.

Mrs. Ed Arnold Of Ashton Honored

Mrs. Ed Arnold of Ashton, was surprised hostess to a group of friends at her home on Wednesday afternoon. The Arnolds leave soon to spend the winter with their daughter, Mrs. Coe of Springfield, and the event was an expression of the good will and appreciation of a good neighbor. Mrs. Arnold is very active in the Ashton Presbyterian church and many friends in church work were among those who enjoyed the afternoon with her. Late in the afternoon a delicious lunch was served.

Rev. Marshall Honored on Birthday

Rev. Walter W. Marshall, pastor of the First Baptist church was the victim of a birthday surprise party last evening at his home. Members of the Men's Class of the church, arrived at the home about 6 o'clock bringing a sumptuous picnic dinner which was greatly enjoyed. The evening was spent in a social way. Rev. Marshall being the recipient of a fine remembrance from his guests, the entire event proving a most enjoyable one.

Friends Still Wonder If They Are

Kansas City, Nov. 3—(AP)—Asked if she and her husband Douglas Fairbanks, had been reconciled, Mary Pickford said:

"Yes, we're reconciled; happily reconciled."

Then she quickly changed the subject. She stopped her last night on her way east by train.

At Hollywood, Fairbanks could not be reached for comment, but close friends there said they believed the actress' remark was intended to be taken humorously.

The actor's brother, Robert, declined to comment other than to say: "Well, they have been going around a lot together late, haven't they?"

VOTE REPUBLICAN

Because of tradition many Lee County voters may assume that the Republican county ticket is as good as elected, just because, with a rare exception at infrequent intervals, such has been the case at every election back over many, many years.

The Democratic party in Lee County is making a very strenuous, thoroughgoing and earnest effort to elect as many county officers as possible. They count on the popularity of the national Democratic ticket at the last general election and hope that such popularity has lasted and that it will be reflected in the vote on county offices.

The Telegraph does not believe that the temper of Lee County voters has undergone any such change and we believe that the overwhelming majority of Lee County men and women are still Republican. But will they take the trouble to get to the polls? If they fail to do so in any considerable numbers the Democratic ticket can be elected.

The Republican ticket in Lee County should be elected in its entirety. For County Judge, Wm. L. Leech has made a splendid record during the years he has held office. His fair and courageous administration of the affairs of the county court have won him the right to re-election.

Sterling D. Schrock, candidate for county clerk, displayed his ability and trustworthiness in his term as county treasurer. His proven efficiency and fine character make him also a valued member of the group of candidates.

Walter Ortgiesen, South Dixon farmer, has proven his ability to serve the public well through his years of active work on the county board, where his services have contributed in a great measure to the best type of progress made by that body. Mr. Ortgiesen is a candidate for county treasurer.

Ward T. Miller, candidate for sheriff, stands for the best there is in honest, fearless law enforcement. In the days when bootleggers and kidnapers traveled with impunity almost anywhere they pleased, those hoodlums complained that Lee County was not safe for them. They avoided Lee County. Why? Ward Miller was sheriff here and they could not "fix" him, nor could they fool him. We want a continuance of law and order in Lee County, do we not? We know Mr. Miller will see that we have it if he is elected.

There is another Miller on the Republican county ticket. L. W. Miller, candidate for superintendent of schools. No relation to the Ward Miller who should be our next sheriff, but he well might be because he, too, in his own profession, is an "ace." We are sure that Lee County is extremely fortunate to have the opportunity of keeping L. W. Miller as its county superintendent of schools. We are also sure that no county in all the state has a better superintendent and we would be surprised if many could even tie us.

Please do not depend upon your neighbor to do your voting for you. Your vote is needed and you may be very sorry—too late—if you fail to vote.

THE NEXT CONGRESS

In Tuesday's election the issue most important to the future of the United States is the complexion of the next Congress. The Telegraph believes that the future welfare of the nation demands a greatly increased number of Republican congressmen and we therefore urge our readers to vote for Leo Allen, present congressman from this district and candidate for re-election, and also for the two Republican candidates for representatives in Congress, state at large, C. Wayland Brooks and Milton E. Jones. Brooks is a fine type of the younger statesman. He formerly lived in Dixon when his father filled a pulpit here for a number of years. He is a world war veteran and a crusader for Republican principles. Jones is a substantial, level-headed downstate businessman and farmer who would also be a great asset to the Republican party in Washington. Our own Congressman Allen has proven his worth and made a name for himself as one of the outstanding Republican leaders among the younger members of the house. All three of these men are badly needed in congress.

President Roosevelt himself is reported to have expressed concern lest the next congress should be so radical as to get out of hand. If the Sinclair brand of Democracy gets enough strength, and with the Brain Trust in the saddle, there is good reason for grave apprehension. That is why a conservative Republican party of criticism and opposition is so badly needed to supply a check on the mad orgy of radical legislation which is in prospect if the Democratic party continues to hold complete sway in congress.

If you want a rubber-stamp congress, a congress of yes-men who will dumbly obey the dictates of the professors in Washington; if you think that this nation is safe with a subservient congress which will quietly submit to the abrogation of the Constitution of the United States, the rights of the individual, the sanctity of contracts, the confiscation of property, the regimentation of agriculture and industry, why then the election need not worry you, but if you are opposed to such a prospect, be sure you vote for Republican congressmen next Tuesday.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The giant's frame with laughter shook, and then he said, "Well youngsters, look me over. I'm a giant, and my name's Gigantic Joe."

"This castle you are in right now, is mine. Say, kindly tell me how you entered? Now behave, and maybe I'll let you go."

"Well, we are Tinymites, you see all just anxious as can be to see new sights, where'er we roam," said Scooty, in reply.

"We all were hiking near at hand, and saw this place. We thought it grand. It made us all so curious, we couldn't pass it by."

"I knocked and knocked, without success, and so we entered, I'll confess, by climbing up a ladder. Through a window we all came."

"This bed was quite a tempting sight, so in it we all spent the night. If we have kept you out of it, it really is a shame."

Just then the Tiny girls walked in. The giant eyed them, with a grin. "Ah, two more little tots," said he. "Well, that makes things just fine."

"It seems that play is all you do. Well, now, I have some plans for you. You have no hard work of your own, so I'll let you do mine."

"For cleanliness, I'm very keen. You'll shortly find out what I mean, 'cause I am going to make you scrub the floors in this big place."

"Although it will not be much fun, you'll have to work, until it's done." Then through a window came a man. A smile was on his face.

Said he, "Why, what's the matter, tots? I'll bet the giant has planned lots and lots of work for you to do. I know him. He's not kind."

"I'll tell I came, for, if you ask, I'll gladly save you from your task. My name is Happy Helper. I'm a good friend you will find."

Something strange happens to the giant in the next story.

ASHTON NEWS

By E. TILTON

ASHTON—Mrs. Mary Sanders is hostess to the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist church at her home on Friday afternoon November 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Naylor were guests of his parents of Franklin Grove over the week end.

Mrs. Myrtle Heer, president of the Thirteenth District of Illinois Federated Women's club was speaker at the first meeting of the Ashton Woman's club at the home of Mrs. Ed Ventler on Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Heer is a most interesting speaker and never fails to leave an inspiring message with any club which she addresses. In her work as president of the district Mrs. Heer travels some fifty thousand miles in a year's time, visiting the various clubs of this district.

The program was in charge of the committee on American Home with Mrs. Carson Cross and Mrs. Faye Schade serving as members of the committee. Musical numbers were given by the club quartet, composed of Mrs. Frances Charters, Mrs. Helen Attig, Mrs. Elma Klingebiel, and Miss Lola Quick.

A group of solos was given by Mrs. Frances Charters. Following the meeting, tea was served with Mrs. Betty Griffith and Miss Lucille Hart, president of the Ashton club pouring.

The Pine Rock Woman's club were hostess to their families at a 6:30 dinner, given at the M. E. church at Chana on Friday evening. Following the dinner a program was given.

Regular meeting of Ashton O. E. S. Chapter No. 475, will be held on Nov. 6. Parlor club will follow the business session.

Among those who came from a distance to attend funeral services for the late Mrs. Martin Honert were Mrs. Peter Larson, Mrs. William Degner, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Dunlap, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Melhaussen, Mrs. Martha Dunlap, Mr. and Mrs. George Melhaussen, Martin Landgrebe and son Ray and William Landgrebe, all of Dysart, Ia., and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson of Prophetstown.

What the News Was Around Dixon in Years Gone By

50 YEARS AGO

Workman started tearing away the old bridge. A temporary bridge on Hennepin street has been erected so that travel will not be stopped. The new bridge as per contract will be finished before Feb. 1, 1885.

A child of Wilson Crawford's in Dementtown swallowed a whistle this morning, which came very near causing its death.

Mrs. D. B. Raymond fell on the back walk adjoining her home and broke her fore arm, causing great pain. Dr. Brown dressed the wound and she is now feeling better.

25 YEARS AGO

At the presidential election yesterday, Edwin S. Rosecrans was elected circuit clerk; Mark C. Keller, state's attorney and Representative Tourtellot, A'en and De-vine to the legislature.

10 YEARS AGO

Word was received here of the death of Frank Cissna, son of Dr. and Mrs. O. H. Cissna, former residents of Dixon.

The mighty dead who sleep there—thinking how those pillars have stood through all the nights and days, through peace and war, for ages—giving meaning to Time and shape to Eternity.

In the Poet's Corner we sat, where Tennyson sleeps side by side with Browning, and the effigy of Shakespeare has the bust of Burns nearby; invoking thoughts of the Choir Invisible.

What a wonderful organ, now soft as the prayer of a child, now eloquent as thunder in the mountains—its melodies drift and sing and sob and march up and down in our hearts the while.

If one cannot pray in Westminster Abbey, where men have prayed for ages, and where the echoes of voices long hushed still cling to its arches, the fountain of prayer is dried up in his soul. Truly, "time, the white god, makes all things holy, and what is old becomes religion," if one is sensitive to the suggestions of history.

Who can measure the influence of such a shrine, hallowed by ages of patriotism and prayer. It stands for order in the streets, for order and beauty and peace in the secret places of the soul!

Spiders as "Hitch Hikers"

Science has explained how young spiders are able to land on ships far out at sea, and hitch hike to another country. They have a unique method of flying. Having no wings, they climb to a high place, spin a thread strong enough to support them, and then go sailing off in the breeze.

Church Clock

The clock in the parish church at Rye, in England, has been going since 1560 except for a few short periods for repairs. It is said to be the only clock in the world with a pendulum that is suspended through the roof and into the body of the church.

The Dear Young Things

Debut is pronounced day-BU (to rhyme with few). Debutant is day-bu-TANT (to rhyme with aunt). If the girl calls herself a DAY-boot-tant and makes a day-BOO, her entrance into society will probably be followed by a swift exit.

Accepting Injustice

"No man," said Hi Ho, the sage of Chinatown, "has a right to accept an injustice for the sake of comfort and thereby promote conditions which bring injustice to his friends and neighbors."

BEARS AND NEW YORK GIANTS TO MEET TOMORROW

Chicago Team Faces Crucial Contest at Cubs' Field

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Confronted with the necessity of winning Sunday at Wrigley Field or running a well-chance of losing out as championship possibilities, the Chicago Bears and New York Giants are prepared for a terrific battle. Boston is crowding the Giants for the lead in the eastern division of the national pro circuit, while Detroit is keeping the undefeated pace with the Bears with honors in the western loop.

In their last three clashes the scores have been close. The Bears won 14 to 10 in Chicago in the first game last year and then took a 3 to 0 setback in New York. The titular result was 25 to 21 in what is generally regarded as the most thrilling football game ever played.

Grange Saved Day

It will be recalled that in the final seconds of that epic fray that Mel Hein, great center of the Giants, who was made an end by a line shift, caught a forward pass from Harry Newman and ran to the 25 yard line where he just started to make a lateral to a mate who had a clear field for a touchdown. At that instance Red Grange tackled Hein from behind, ball and all, standing up, and the day was saved for the Bears.

Newman again looms as the chief individual threat to the Bears largely on account of his uncanny ability to find the mark with his passes and Coach Halas and Walcutt have concentrated on a defense for same all week.

New Sensation

In addition to Newman, Coach Steve Owen plans to use his new sensation as an alternate to Newman. He is Willie Smith, a gold miner during the off season, who attended Idaho University. Smith is perhaps the middest of the league as he weighs only 147 pounds but he is reputed to be one of the best of open field runners.

With the exception of Johnny Sisk, the Bears are in excellent condition, and as the Giants are, too, the game will move at top speed.

Becker's Five

However the park is not a sell-out and very good locations will be available the day of the game at the Wrigley Field box office.

BAER CONSIDERS SEVERAL OFFERS FOR APPEARANCE

Champion Can Harvest Neat Sum Before Making Movie

Hollywood, Calif., Nov. 3.—(AP)—Max Baer took a bewildered look around today, wondering which of numerous offers he would accept to while the time away until he starts working on his motion picture here in February.

He will pick up a little loose change in California for the next week or two, referring wrestling and fistic bouts, and then take to the road. He is interested in an offer to make a picture in England and a radio broadcast is being considered. Cleveland would like to have him make a personal appearance at its automobile show Jan. 12.

A bunch of exhibition fights are being dangled before him. One would take him to Des Moines in January against Johnny Miller, Birmingham, Ala., has another with Babe Hunt, veteran trial horse as the target.

Baer's manager, Ansel Hoffman, and his theatrical booking agent, Leo Morrison are looking the price tags over carefully to pick out those with the biggest figures.

LEADERSHIP OF SENIOR LEAGUE MAY BE DIVIDED

Two Men May Be Named to Take Over John Heydler's Work

New York, Nov. 3.—(AP)—It appeared likely today that the National League's executive problems suddenly created by the resignation of 65-year-old John Arnold Heydler as president because of ill health, will be solved by the appointment of a dual leadership. Heydler has held the combined offices of President and secretary-treasurer since he was elected to succeed John K. Tener as chief executive of the senior major league baseball organization in 1918. He formally relinquishes his responsibility on Dec. 11, at the annual meeting in New York, but the club owners at a special meeting here next Thursday probably will decide to divide the two jobs again, meanwhile asking Heydler to retain his connection with the league in an advisory capacity, perhaps as the "president emeritus."

May Seek Rickey — Although there may be strong pressure among the magnates to elevate a practical, experienced baseball executive to the presidency, such as Branch Rickey, the energetic business manager and vice president of the St. Louis Cardinals, it is possible they may decide to look no further than the present associates of Heydler in the league headquarters staff. It is doubtful, anyway, whether Rickey would consent to leave his far-flung activities with the world champions, even if honored with a call to take the chief executive's chair.

The prospective combination, understood already to be under consideration, is to elevate Ford C. Frick, the league's public relations man, to the active presidency, and elect Harvey Trauband, for years Heydler's right hand assistant, to the post of secretary-treasurer.

Ex-Governors in Support of Bond Issue on Nov. 6th.

Two life-long political opponents and former governors of Illinois, shook hands across the party-line fence just long enough today to ask all voters to vote "Yes" on the emergency relief bond ballot next Tuesday.

"I favor voting for the bonds because I think it wise to spread the relief burden," said former Governor Charles S. Deneen.

"I am going to vote 'Yes' on the bonds, because unless the bonds carry, taxes for 1934 and 1935 will be heavily increased," said former Governor Edward F. Dunne.

Their complete statements as released from their Chicago offices are as follows:

Said former Governor Dunne, who until Thursday (November 1) has been commissioner of the United States to a Century of Progress exposition:

"I am going to vote 'Yes' on the separate Emergency Relief Bond issue on the 6th of November and would advise my fellow-citizens to do the same. Failure to vote would be as bad as to vote 'No.' Unless the bonds carry, taxes for 1934 and 1935 will be heavily increased, to the great detriment of the over-assessed taxpayers of the City and State."

Said former Governor Deneen:

"I favor voting for the $30,000,000 Emergency Relief Bonds. The General Assembly authorized the borrowing of $28,500,000 in state anticipation tax notes to supply the 1934 emergency relief fund, nearly all of which has been spent for that purpose. I understand the General Assembly made such appropriation in the faith that the bonds would be approved by the people on November 6th. In view of the large amounts which will be necessary to be raised for emergency relief in the near future, I think it wise to spread the burden."

ARZA ANDREW STEPHENS

(Contributed)

Arza Andrew Stephens was born Dec. 5, 1863 at Kappa, Ill., the son of Margaret and Richard Stephens. At an early age he was baptized in the Evangelical church. His early life was spent at Kappa, Ill. He was united in marriage to Geneva Mohr, January 3, 1889. The first years of their married life was spent in Kearney, Neb., and Kappa, Ill. In 1907 they moved to their farm two miles southeast of Franklin Grove where they resided until the year 1919, when they came to Dixon to the present residence. He passed away after a short illness on Oct. 27, 1934. He leaves to mourn his passing, his wife and four children, Bessie and Mildred at home, Mrs. Edith Sunday and Montelle C. Stephens of Glen Ellyn, also one sister and three brothers, Mary and Will of Chicago, Austin of Fort Wayne, Ind.; James of Bluffdale, Mo., and seven grandchildren. Two sisters and one brother preceded him in death. He had been active all his life and a kind and loving father, never selfish and always honest. Funeral services were conducted on Tuesday afternoon at the home, 330 West Chamberlain street, Dr. Gilbert Stansel, pastor of the First Methodist church officiating and with interment in the Franklin Grove cemetery.

The pallbearers were: Frank Ware, C. C. Childs, Dave Kelly, H. W. Taylor, Harry Minnehan and Paul Schuck. Those from out of town who attended the funeral were as follows: Sidney L. Mohr of Wabash, Ind., Mrs. William M. Banes of Remington, Ind., Loren English of Remington, Ind., Lee Carl of Remington, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. Victor English and Mr. and Mrs. Keith English of Wolcott, Ind., Mrs. Anna White of Lafayette, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. George Leutz of Normal, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. George English of Carlock, Ill., Jay Gaddis and James Gaddis of Hudson, Ill., Mrs. Elva Stephens and Miss Alma Stephens of Goodland, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Lindahl of Glen Ellyn and W. O. Stephens of Chicago.

AUGUST C. MOELLER

Democratic Candidate

FOR

County Clerk

Of Lee County

Election Tuesday, Nov. 6, 1934

(POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT)

Would You Believe the Evidence of Your Eyes?

MR. GEORGE DIXON, Republican nominee for Senator of the 35th District, claims that he should be elected. That to elect him will do away with State governmental waste and extravagance. He claims that during his term in the House Economy was his watchword.

The photostatic prints below on the left are from vouchers issued to and cashed by Mr. Dixon for mileage to and from Dixon to Springfield. Those on the right are vouchers issued to members of the House who lived in the same community as Mr. Dixon, and had the same number of miles to travel each time.

On each of the twenty-three trips Mr. Dixon made to Springfield he charged the taxpayers $8.16 more than did other Representatives living in the same city—a total of $187.66.

The State Auditor's Report of Expenses for the 56th General Assembly shows that Mr. Dixon's mileage was exceeded by but one Representative.

Does this record indicate that Mr. Dixon believes in economy or the welfare of his constituents? Will he, if elected to the Senate, follow the same form of economy as he did while in the House, or will he reform and save money for the taxpayers?

Will you, Mr. Voter, inquire of Mr. Dixon about this matter before casting your vote November 6th?

BITTERNESS OF CAMPAIGN GROWS IN COOK COUNTY

Leaders of Both Major Parties Claim Success on Tuesday

Chicago, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Purely local issues played an increasingly important part in the final campaign drive today as both major parties made conflicting claims about their prospects in Illinois, especially as to the all-important district and local offices.

Three days before Tuesday's off-year election, the campaign was under full steam as Republicans and Democrats rallied their forces for the final arguments about whether governmental control should again change hands.

President emphasizing their praise of President Roosevelt and the New Deal, Democratic stump speakers asked for a continuation of the 1930 and 1932 landslide that swept them into office.

G. O. P. Confident
GOP spokesmen expressed confidence that they would cut down Democratic majorities and start the recouping of ground lost in past campaigns.

Except for the congressional outcome, the Illinois campaign still lacked the national interest that has been given to California, Wisconsin, New York and other states. There still was the big handicap of no single outstanding contest this year and rival orators stuck to the appeals that have been shouted to rally crowds in every metropolitan and downstate community.

Bitterness increased in the Chicago campaign, where half the state's population is concentrated. Republicans ignored the charge, made by Secretary Ickes of the Interior, that their Cook county committee is "Caponeized." They continued the charges that the so-called "Nash-Kelly-Horner machine" is a "Tammany" organization.

Chairman Justus Johnson of the Republican state committee said today that his party will gain at least eight congressional seats, get control of the Illinois house, make substantial gains in the Illinois senate and elect local officials in 73 of the 102 counties.

Conceding no district, Bruce A. Campbell, the Democratic chairman, said his party would increase its strength.

"NEW DEAL FAILURE"
Belleville, Ill., Nov. 3.—(AP)—Frank Knox, publisher of the Chicago Daily News, in an address before the Young Republican League of Southern Illinois, last night charged policies of the present administration were "unsound and leading us straight to disaster."

While it is too early to expect the people to turn against the administration, Knox said the important thing is to remember that this election is merely a preliminary skirmish with the main engagement two years off.

Charging the New Deal has fallen short of its aims, Knox said that a disintegration of faith in the administration is barring recovery.

The three major objectives of the New Deal he said were solution of the farm problem, restoration of employment and rebuilding of financial health and added that all three have failed dismally.

Knox accounted for increase in farm prices by the drought, and said more families now are dependent on federal aid than when the policy was initiated 16 months ago. The New Deal, he told the league, also has been "conspicuously unsuccessful" in efforts to balance the budget and in a "careful and prudent conservation of public funds."

Briefly, the 1934 tax bills of the taxpayers of Rockford township, Rockford, to be paid in 1935, will be less than one-half of what they paid when the assessor followed the "custom" of the office—rather than the law as directed by our present Constitution and interpreted by the Illinois supreme court.

The same lawful methods of assessment applied in Dixon and therefrom will reach our real-estate tax rate of one per cent, or less.

The following candidates to be voted on Nov. 6th, Tuesday next, have signed approval of the Taxpayers' Platform. These men merit your consideration.

Republican candidates—Sterling D. Shrock, for County Clerk; Ward T. Miller, for County Sheriff; George C. Dixon, for State Senator.

Democratic candidates—Joseph Bauer, for County Treasurer; Victor J. H. Seifert, for County Supt. of Schools; Henry J. White, for State Senator.

The Telegraph's Editorial of Wednesday headed "Vote Republican," referring to the splendid list of experienced, able and trustworthy candidates states that "we endorse the ticket and urge its election." That editorial is what many voters of Dixon and Lee county have been waiting for.

It stated sound objections to some of the "New Deal" policies. Timely would be an editorial on the Illinois situation. That is closer to home. The Illinois State Democratic Administration of Chicago politicians, now grasping for life in the country, is being condemned by practically all the voters of Lee county, except Democrats on the payroll, and must be stopped before they advance further upon us. Their great objective is continued control of the Legislature, which would assure their ability to pass laws for Chicago's advantage and detrimental to Down State interests, with unlimited appropriations for their political machine. To stop them we must vote for members of the Legislature who are known to be opposed to those Chicago politicians and will be free from such control. Certainly no Democrat who might be elected by the support of the Democratic machine would turn around and buck the machine. That is not done in Democratic circles. The only chance we have to vote for our security from extended Chicago Democratic rule over the Down State is to support our Republican Legislative nominees, George C. Dixon, for Senator, and Allen and Collins, for Representatives.

Mr. Dixon is the candidate for Senator who will fulfill those requirements. Furthermore, voters of all parties should consider the advantage it is to have a Lee county Senator, with the extensive prestige of that office available for our local needs.

There has been no Lee county Senator since 1910. Now is your opportunity to help ourselves. All Zombie is a Haitian name meaning a witch or magician, and is used by uncultured negroes in Haiti to scare their children. The effect of this is very similar to the American expression "look out or the bogey man will get you." These bogey men are said to be taken from their graves by men who want cheap labor. They take these men and fix them so they are able to work. They are extremely hard of understanding. It is widely believed in Haiti that it is possible to inject a fluid into the bodies of the dead persons which will make it possible for their bodies to move and act as robots.

Winter's No Bogey to Dionne Babe

Let other folks worry about Winter's shrill blasts if they will, but Yvonne, largest of the Dionne quintuplets, just turned 5 months, isn't doing any fretting about the bitter weather ahead. She's all prepared for it, as she goes for an airing at her Calander, Ont., hospital-home, cozily peering out from under her warm white knitted cap and her heavy blanket.

Ringworm of the dog's skin is contagious to man. Dogs as well as cats are known to spread ringworm. Ringworm occurs in dogs in two forms, dry and purulent. The condition can be treated effectively by painting the ringworm patches with tincture of iodine. However, the disease is stubborn and as long as the dog's skin harbors the parasites of ringworm, it can infect humans.

Of dog mange veterinarians recognize two kinds. One is caused by a specific parasite which is contagious to man. This is the so-called sarcoptic mange. The condition is curable by the application of sulphur incorporated in oil dressings.

Another type of mange known as follicular mange is very common in certain breeds of dogs. This form of mange, according to the general opinion, is not transmissible to man. However, when it develops in an animal it is a serious matter. Formerly animals suffering from this form of skin disease were condemned to destruction. More recently it has been found that the condition is by no means hopeless.

The dog, like the human, reflects in its skin the state of its health. Monday—The Skin in Winter

LETTER TO TAXPAYERS
In 1933 Gus S. Brown was elected township assessor by the taxpayers of Rockford township, Rockford.

Mr. Brown, in cooperation with Attorney Frank S. Regan an advocate of Constitutional taxation, determined to obey the law as provided by our present constitution, rather than the "custom" of the assessor's office.

The result is that were the assessment made on a 60 per cent basis as was done by the assessor preceding Mr. Brown, the total valuation for 1934 would have been more than double that of 1933.

Briefly, the 1934 tax bills of the taxpayers of Rockford township, Rockford, to be paid in 1935, will be less than one-half of what they paid when the assessor followed the "custom" of the office—rather than the law as directed by our present Constitution and interpreted by the Illinois supreme court.

The Clew of the Forgotten Murder

A CARLETON KENDRAKE

©1934 NEA Service Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
When CHARLES MORDEN, reporter for The Blade, is found dead DAN BLEEKER, publisher, employs SIDNEY GRIFF, famous criminologist, to solve the murder.

Morden had been investigating the affairs of FRANK B. CATHAY, wealthy and prominent following the arrest of an impostor claiming to be Cathay and accompanied by a girl called MARY BRIGGS.

The day following Morden's death Cathay died of poisoning. Griff learns that Morden visited the apartment of ALICE LORTON who has reported to police the disappearance of her roommate, ESTHER ORWAY. He accuses Alice of being involved in Morden's murder but does not succeed in breaking down her story.

Doctors report Cathay's death was suicide. Griff does not believe this. He tells Bleeker that the key witness—if she can be located—will be the mysterious MRS. BLANCHE MALONE for whom CARL RACINE, detective employed by MRS. CATHAY, is searching.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXVII
BLEEKER's tone of bewilderment matched his expression. "But who is Mrs. Blanche Malone?" he demanded. "What has she got to do with the case? Why is Mrs. Cathay so anxious to get in touch with her?"

Griff's smile was enigmatic. "Bleeker," he said, "I'm not going to help you. You've got to figure the thing out for yourself. The facts are in your possession just the same as they're in mine."

"No," Bleeker said irritably. "There's something you know that I don't—this big fact that you were talking about."

Griff shook his head. "You know it," he said, "the same as I do."

"For a man who's supposed to be in my employ," Bleeker said, "you certainly seem to give a minimum of co-operation. How about this Thomas Decker? Why don't you give me an opportunity to run his story? You promised me that I'd get a break there."

"No, I didn't," Griff said slowly. "I promised you that I'd think it over, but I'm going to give you a break."

"Yes," Bleeker remarked sarcastically. "I presume you'll let me use my own mind to think out where he is."

"Bleeker," Griff said, "if I take you to him will you promise me that you won't publish anything about it unless I say you can?"

"No, I'll publish anything." "Then I can't take you to him." "Then I'll find him by myself." "Go ahead."

There was a moment of silence. "If," Bleeker said, "I had given you the promise would you have taken me to him?"

"Yes." "Why would you do that and not let me publish what I discovered?" "Because I don't know what we're going to discover. I know what I think we're going to discover. If I'm right, there's no reason why you can't publish it. It's only in case I should be wrong that I wouldn't want the thing made public."

"Has Decker told you anything more than he told the police?" "No."

"That's straight?"

"Absolutely." "Why are you so anxious to keep him hidden then?"

"BECAUSE," Griff remarked, "I think that he lied both to the police and to me. I think he got a better look at the murderer than he says he did."

"Why don't you cross-examine him a little bit and find out?" "That's what I intend to do now."

"And you're going to give me an opportunity to sit in on it?" "Yes."

Bleeker sighed. "Oh, well," he said, "I'll give you my word. Come on. Let's go and find him."

Griff nodded, extended his index finger and pushed an electric bell button. A minute or so later a door opened and a man clad in livery bowed somewhat obsequiously.

"Was there something you wanted, sir?" he asked.

Griff nodded to Bleeker. "My valet," he said.

Bleeker said rather impatiently. "I'm not a detective myself, but even I deduced as much."

Griff smiled. "You see," he said, "as soon as the police knew that I was keeping Thomas Decker concealed they tried to locate Decker by checking over all of the hotels and rooming houses, paying particular attention to anyone who had registered on the night of the murder. I anticipated this move on their part. Therefore, I put Decker in a place where they would hardly expect to find him, yet where he would be instantly accessible if I should desire to consult with him."

Bleeker's eyes suddenly widened. He opened his mouth to speak, but before he could say a word Griff nodded and said to the man who posed as his valet. "Come in, Decker, and sit down. I want you to talk with this man."

I anticipated this move on their part. Therefore, I put Decker in a place where they would hardly expect to find him, yet where he would be instantly accessible if I should desire to consult with him."

Bleeker's eyes suddenly widened. He opened his mouth to speak, but before he could say a word Griff nodded and said to the man who posed as his valet. "Come in, Decker, and sit down. I want you to talk with this man."

"Absolutely." "Why are you so anxious to keep him hidden then?"

"BECAUSE," Griff remarked, "I think that he lied both to the police and to me. I think he got a better look at the murderer than he says he did."

"Why don't you cross-examine him a little bit and find out?" "That's what I intend to do now."

"And you're going to give me an opportunity to sit in on it?" "Yes."

Bleeker sighed. "Oh, well," he said, "I'll give you my word. Come on. Let's go and find him."

Griff nodded, extended his index finger and pushed an electric bell button. A minute or so later a door opened and a man clad in livery bowed somewhat obsequiously.

"Was there something you wanted, sir?" he asked.

Griff nodded to Bleeker. "My valet," he said.

Bleeker said rather impatiently. "I'm not a detective myself, but even I deduced as much."

Griff smiled. "You see," he said, "as soon as the police knew that I was keeping Thomas Decker concealed they tried to locate Decker by checking over all of the hotels and rooming houses, paying particular attention to anyone who had registered on the night of the murder. I anticipated this move on their part. Therefore, I put Decker in a place where they would hardly expect to find him, yet where he would be instantly accessible if I should desire to consult with him."

Last Sunday evening a large appreciative audience saw the beautiful and inspiring play "The Two Builders." Many went away with a deeper appreciation of what the home ought to be. The church will help you make such a home. Very few Christian homes go on the rocks. Children of Christian homes usually make good, hence you cannot afford to neglect your church life. You are invited to attend the following services:

9:30 Sunday School. 7:00 P. M. Discussion groups. 10:30 A. M. Worship and Sermon. Adults and Young People. 7:45 P. M. Sacred Concert. 7:30 P. M. Wednesday evening—Church Night.

Paul B. Studebaker, Pastor. Drive for Boy Scouts Tuesday morning about eighteen local men and women, acting as solicitors, together with George Driesbach, Scout Executive of the Blackhawk Area, Harold G. Boltz, new field executive for Lee and Ogle counties; assembled in the rooms of the Masonic lodge and were served breakfast. E. L. Fish, of the local troupe committee, acted as chef and was pronounced a first-class cook.

Following the breakfast, Mr. Driesbach outlined the Scout work and the purpose for which funds are collected in such a campaign, which is made annually.

Franklin Grove Troop No. 110 consists of twenty Scouts. It is only six months old, and all Scouts are making very favorable progress in rank. As benefactors they expect to receive considerable benefits from this campaign.

The public spirit of the solicitors and the generosity of the contributors is to be highly commended, and when the drive is completed, nearly $100 will have been realized for the Scout work.

G. O. P. Caravan The Republican caravan which made a tour of Lee County visited Franklin Grove Wednesday morning and remained here for about an hour entertaining the citizens with music and addresses. The tour was preceded by the Harmony Trio from Dixon which played and sang several numbers.

A "sound wagon" was used by the caravan which had an amplifier and one could hear the addresses and music very plainly a distance of a couple of blocks from the place of meeting.

Chairman H. C. Warner of the Lee county committee was in charge of the meeting and introduced the various county and district candidates, who spoke briefly. Mr. Warner closed the meeting with an address which pointed out the various causes for the condition of the country at the present time.

The caravan left here for Ashton. After holding meetings at the various towns in the county, the supper and night meeting was held at the Sugar Grove church in Palmyra township.

Nothing new under the sun. They say the Assyrians used the five day week four thousand years ago.

Glendora Coal lights easily, holds a fire and can be used any place including a grate. You can't put off buying much longer without suffering from the cold.

If you have an attic that is full of possibilities, now is the time to make an investment in some of them and reap comfort, convenience and pleasure.

Didja hear of the trusting wife who thought her husband talked about Ruth in his sleep because he was a baseball fan?

There's been a lot of rain lately all around the country, and it has given folks a fine chance to see how many buildings are roofed with good old Mule-Hide and how many need it.

An old maid was being given a lift along the highway by an old bachelor in his car, when she sighed and he inquired the reason, to which she said: "My hands are cold and nobody loves me." To which he rejoined: "God loves you—sit on your hands!"

Mr. Farmer Friend, how about some new fencing on that fine farm of yours this fall? You can greatly increase the profit of your farming with more and better fences. We have just received a new carload of hunderling fencing—that is not the trade name of it, but you just come and see it and you will agree with us.

Washington, Nov. 3—(AP)—Millions of dollars which the Federal reserve banks have offered to lend to industry went begging today.

The last Congress empowered the banks to lend about $280,000,000 along nicely for a time without a clergyman, or a choir, or even prayer. But sort of man is he who scorns and neglects and despises his best friend, until the hour of tribulation."

C. A. Blekking, Pastor.

Everybody is welcome to these services.

Eddie Guest, the beloved American poet of our present time says: "To say I don't need the church is more bravado. I needed it when my father died.
